Allied's Creative Factoring Solutions Give Your Customers the Wings to Fly.

At Allied, we partner with bankers, brokers and all types of intermediaries to create a win-win situation for your customers and prospects. A partnership with Allied provides you an alternative financing source to offer your customers or prospects who could not otherwise receive financing. When your clients need working capital that you're not able to provide, let Allied's innovative factoring solutions be the wings they need to help them fly.

Transforming Your Options with Our Unique Funding Solutions

"As one of many companies that had a difficult year in 2008, our then existing bank (a relationship of over a dozen years), decided that it did not want to continue as our lender. After shopping numerous banks, lending facilities and factors, the clear choice was Allied. Their management team made two site visits to our location within weeks of us contacting them. They understood our business, but more importantly, they understood that one bad year did not make a bad company. In the end, our choice came down to a bank, a bank-type lender and Allied. We chose Allied and have been completely satisfied with our choice."
